1. Significant accounting policies

The unaudited interim consolidated financial statements have been prepared by management in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles ('GAAP') and include the accounts of the Company and its wholly-owned subsidiary, GuestLogix CCS Inc. All significant intercompany transactions and balances have been eliminated.

Revenue recognition

The Company's largest source of revenue derives from arrangements with multiple deliverables. When a customer order contains multiple items such as hardware, software, hosting and services, which are delivered at varying times, the Company determines whether the delivered items can be considered separate units of accounting in accordance with Emerging Issues Committee Abstract EIC-142, Revenue Arrangements with Multiple Deliverables ('EIC 142'). EIC 142 states that delivered items should be considered separate units of accounting if delivered items have value to the customer on a standalone basis; there is objective and reliable evidence of the fair value of undelivered items; the arrangement includes a general right of return relative to the delivered items; and, delivery of undelivered items is probable and substantially in the vendor's control.

If the vendor is able to establish fair value for all elements of the arrangement, revenue is allocated and recognized on each element separately in accordance with the appropriate revenue recognition convention for a given unit of accounting. However, if fair value cannot be established or if the delivered items do not have stand-alone value to the customer without additional services being provided, the vendor recognizes revenue on the items as a whole.

Management has determined that the deliverables in these arrangements generally do not have value to its customers on a stand-alone basis. In addition, vendor-specific and entity-specific objective evidence, as defined by EIC 142, of the fair values of the items with multiple deliverables is not available as the items generally are not sold separately by the Company, nor are there comparable vendors for these products in the marketplace. In some cases, the Company makes hardware only sales without any other deliverables. In these instances customers have opted not to sign contracts with the Company. Revenue in these instances is recognized when hardware is delivered and accepted by customers.

Some customers elect to purchase the equipment outright at the commencement of an arrangement. In these instances the Company recognizes the revenue and the associated cost of equipment rateably over the initial term of the arrangement.

To account for revenues and related expenses under a majority of arrangements, the Company employs sales-type lease accounting as follows. The Company sells products to certain customers under terms which approximate sales-type lease arrangements, with GuestLogix as the lessor, for periods ranging from three to five years. GuestLogix accounts for revenue under its sales-type leases in accordance with CICA Handbook section 3065, Leases, and recognizes current and long-term lease receivables on the accompanying consolidated balance sheets as net finance receivable. The present value of all minimum lease payments and the associated interest are recognized as revenue on a monthly basis over the term of the respective arrangements, using the discount rate implicit in each lease. Due to the lack of available objective evidence of fair values, the Company defers recognition of the revenues from these leases and recognizes revenues on a monthly basis when undelivered elements existing at each agreement's outset, such as transaction fees and monthly services, are delivered and payments are due. Amortization of the corresponding capital assets deployed related to the sales-type lease arrangements are charged to amortization expense over the initial term of the respective arrangements.

The Company recognizes revenue from the sale of hardware and parts in accordance with Emerging Issues Committee Abstract 141, Revenue Recognition, (EIC 141), when persuasive evidence of an arrangement exists, delivery has occurred, the sale price is fixed or determinable, and collection is reasonably assured.

GuestLogix also earns revenues from professional services and software hosting and support services. Where the arrangement is based on an hourly rate, the fair value of the professional services is recognized as the services are performed, based on the agreed hourly rate.

GUESTLOGIX INC.

Revenue from a fixed price professional services contract is recognized on a proportional performance basis, which requires GuestLogix to make estimates and is subject to the risks and uncertainties inherent in projecting future events. A number of internal and external factors can influence estimates, including the nature of the services being performed, the complexity of the customer's environment and the utilization and efficiency of the GuestLogix' professional services team. Recognized revenues are subject to revisions as the contract progresses to completion. Revisions in profit estimates are charged to income in the period in which the facts giving rise to the revision become known. Should there be an insufficient basis to estimate the progress towards the completion, revenue is recognized when the project is complete or when the Company receives final acceptance from the customer. Revenues from software hosting and support services are recognized in accordance with EIC 141, when persuasive evidence of an arrangement exists, services have been rendered, the sales price is fixed or determinable, and collection is reasonably assured.

Research and development expenses

Research costs are expensed as incurred. Research and development costs are recorded net of investment tax credits, where applicable. Costs related to the design and development of software solutions are expensed as incurred unless they meet the criteria, under Canadian GAAP, for deferral and amortization. The Company capitalizes development costs incurred subsequent to establishing technological feasibility. Amortization of development costs commences with commercial production or use of the product or process.

Financial instruments

Financial instruments of GuestLogix consist of cash and cash equivalents, restricted cash and cash equivalents, accounts receivable, accounts payable and accrued liabilities, and term loan.

Cash and cash equivalents and restricted cash and cash equivalents are classified as held-for-trading, which require the financial instruments to be measured at fair value and the changes in fair value are recorded in the consolidated statements of operations. The carrying value of these instruments approximates its fair value due to its short-term nature.

Accounts receivable are classified as loans and receivables and are measured at amortized cost. Accounts payable and accrued liabilities, obligations under capital leases and term loan are classified as other financial liabilities and are measured at amortized cost.

Equipment

Equipment is recorded at cost. Amortization is provided on a straight-line basis over the assets estimated useful lives as follows:

|------------------------|---------|
| Computer equipment | 3 years |
| Furniture and fixtures | 5 years |

Capital assets deployed

Assets that are deployed for use by customers are recorded at cost. Amortization is provided on a straight-line basis over the terms of the respective arrangements which range from three to five years.

Deferred cost of equipment sales

Under certain arrangements, the Company incurs costs for hardware delivered as part of the arrangement in advance of recognizing the related revenue. As the revenue is deferred and recognized over the initial term of the arrangement, the cost of the equipment is also deferred and taken as a charge to income over the initial term of the arrangement.

Impairment of long-lived assets

The useful lives and the carrying values of long-lived assets are periodically reviewed for continued appropriateness. Long lived assets are tested for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying value of the assets may not be recoverable. If the sum of the undiscounted future cash flows expected to result from the use and eventual disposition of an asset is less than its carrying value, the asset is considered to be impaired. An impairment loss is measured as the excess of the carrying value of the asset over its fair value. As at February 28, 2011, the Company has not recorded an impairment loss.

Foreign currency translation

Monetary assets and liabilities of the Company that are denominated in foreign currencies are translated into Canadian dollars at the exchange rates prevailing at the balance sheet date. Revenues and expenses are translated at the exchange rates prevailing at the approximate dates of the transactions. Foreign exchange gains and losses are included in the consolidated statements of operations.

GUESTLOGIX INC.

Notes to Unaudited Interim Consolidated Financial Statements
February 28, 2011 and February 28, 2010

1. Significant accounting policies (continued)

Future income taxes

The Company provides for income taxes under the asset and liability method. Under the asset and liability method, future income tax assets and liabilities are recognized for the future tax consequences attributable to differences between the financial statement carrying amount of existing assets and liabilities and their respective tax bases. Future tax assets and liabilities are measured using enacted or substantively enacted tax rates expected to apply to taxable income in the years in which those temporary differences are expected to be recovered or settled. Future income tax assets, if any, are recognized only to the extent that, in the opinion of management, it is more likely than not that the assets will be realized.

Stock-based compensation

The Company uses the fair value method of accounting for all stock-based compensation. The Company grants stock options to directors, officers, employees and consultants of the Company pursuant to the stock option plan described in note 9(c). Compensation expense is recognized for stock options based on the fair value of the options at the grant date. The fair value of the options granted to employees, officers and directors is recognized over the vesting period of the options as stock-based compensation expense as a separate line item on the consolidated statements of operations. The fair value of the options granted to consultants is recognized over the period of services rendered as stock-based compensation expense. If the stock options are exercised, the proceeds received are credited to common shares.

The fair value of stock options is estimated at the grant date using the Black-Scholes option-pricing model. This model requires the input of a number of assumptions, including expected dividend yield, expected stock price volatility, expected time until exercise and risk free interest rate. The Company has assumed no forfeiture rate and adjustments for actual forfeitures are made in the year they occur.

Although the assumptions used reflect management's best estimates, they involve inherent uncertainties based on conditions outside of the Company's control. If other assumptions are used, stock-based compensation could be significantly impacted.

Deferred revenue

Deferred revenue comprises lease, equipment sales, license, and services revenues. Deferred lease revenue arises when customers receive hardware to utilize the on-board retail software solutions and the terms approximate sales-type lease arrangements. In these situations, it is deemed that the Company has entered into a sales-type lease and a lease receivable is recorded. Deferred revenue is recognized as income on a monthly basis over the term of the respective arrangements, using the discount rate implicit in each lease.

GUESTLOGIX INC.

Deferred equipment sales revenue arises when customers purchase the equipment outright at the commencement of the arrangement. Deferred revenue is recognized as income monthly, on a straight-line basis over the initial term of the respective arrangements.

Deferred license revenue is present where a software license is sold, in advance, covering a specific term into the future. Deferred revenue is recognized as income monthly, on a straight-line basis over the terms of the respective arrangements.

Deferred services revenue arises where significant obligations have yet to be satisfied and where payments have been received from the customers in advance of the services to be performed.

Leases

Leases are classified as capital or operating. Those leases which transfer substantially all the benefits and risks of ownership of property to the Company are accounted for as capital leases. The capitalized lease obligations reflect the present value of future lease payments, discounted at the appropriate interest rate, and are reduced by rental payments net of imputed interest. Assets under capital leases are amortized based on the useful life of the asset. All other leases are accounted for as operating leases with rental payments expensed as incurred.

Share issuance costs

Incremental costs incurred in respect of raising capital are charged against the equity proceeds raised and include legal, accounting, agent and investment bank fees and the cost of agent and investment bank warrants and options.

Earnings (loss) per share

Basic earnings (loss) per share is computed by dividing net income by the weighted average number of common shares outstanding for the period. Diluted earnings (loss) per share is calculated using the treasury stock method. Diluted earnings (loss) per share reflects the potential dilution that could occur if additional common shares are assumed to be issued under securities or contracts that entitle their holders to obtain common shares in the future. Diluted loss per share is not presented when the effect on the loss per share of the exercise of stock options and warrants is anti-dilutive. In periods when the Company reports a net loss, the effect of potential issuances of shares under options and warrants would be anti-dilutive and therefore, basic and diluted loss per share is the same.

Measurement uncertainty

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with Canadian GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenue and expense during the reporting periods. Financial statement items subject to significant management judgment include revenue recognition, the allowance for doubtful accounts, the valuation of capital assets deployed, warrant valuation, future income taxes and the valuation of stock-based compensation. While management believes that the estimates and assumptions are reasonable, actual results may differ.

Cash and cash equivalents

The Company considers all highly liquid instruments with maturities of up to 90 days at the time of issuance to be cash equivalents.

Included in cash and cash equivalents is:

| | February 28, 2011 | November 30, 2010 |
|---------------------|---------------------|---------------------|
| Cash | $ 6,135,372 | $ 5,267,508 |
| Short-term deposits | 1,974,222 | 3,579,878 |
| | $ 8,109,594 | $ 8,847,386 |

Inventory

All inventories are stated at the lower of cost or realizable values. The Company's inventory consists of hand-held devices including hand-held devices awaiting deployment and replacement parts held for sale. Cost is determined on the first-in, first-out basis.

Recently issued pronouncements not yet adopted

In December 2009, the CICA issued EIC 175, Multiple Deliverable Revenue Arrangements, replacing EIC 142, Revenue Arrangements with Multiple Deliverables. This abstract was amended to: (1) provide updated guidance on whether multiple deliverables exist, how the deliverables in an arrangement should be separated, and the consideration allocated; (2) require, in situations where a vendor does not have vendor-specific objective evidence ("VSOE") or third-party evidence of selling price, that the entity allocate revenue in an arrangement using estimated selling prices of deliverables; (3) eliminate the use of the residual method and require an entity to allocate revenue using the relative selling price method; and (4) require expanded qualitative and quantitative disclosures regarding significant judgments made in applying this guidance. The accounting changes summarized in EIC 175 are effective for fiscal years beginning on or after January 1, 2011, with early adoption permitted. Adoption may either be on a prospective basis or by retrospective application. If the Abstract is adopted early, in a reporting period that is not the first reporting period in the entity's fiscal year, it must be applied retroactively from the beginning of the Company's fiscal period of adoption. The Company will be adopting International Financial Reporting Standards ('IFRS') on December 1, 2011, and thus will not be adopting the accounting changes summarized in EIC 175.

In January 2009, the CICA issued Handbook Sections 1582, Business Combinations ('Section 1582'), 1601, Consolidated Financial Statements ('Section 1601') and 1602, Non-controlling Interests ('Section 1602'). Section 1582 replaces CICA Handbook Section 1581, Business Combinations, and establishes standards for the accounting for business combinations that is equivalent to the business combination accounting standard under International Financial Reporting Standards. Section 1582 is applicable prospectively to business combinations for which the acquisition date is on or after the beginning of the first annual reporting period beginning on or after January 1, 2011, with early adoption permitted. Section 1601 together with Section 1602 replaces CICA Handbook Section 1600, Consolidated Financial Statements. Section 1601 establishes standards for the preparation of consolidated financial statements. Section 1602 establishes standards for accounting for a non-controlling interest in a subsidiary in consolidated financial statements subsequent to a business combination. Sections 1601 and 1602 are applicable for interim and annual consolidated financial statements relating to fiscal years beginning on or after January 1, 2011, with early adoption permitted. An entity must adopt Sections 1582, 1601 and 1602 at the same time. The Company adopted these standards effective December 1, 2010 and the adoption did not have a material impact on the results of its operations or financial position.

International financial reporting standards ('IFRS')

In February 2008, the Canadian Accounting Standards Board announced that 2011 is the changeover date for publicly accountable profit-oriented enterprises to use IFRS, replacing Canadian GAAP for interim and annual financial statements relating to fiscal years beginning on or after January 1, 2011. The Company will commence reporting in IFRS in the first quarter of the 2012 fiscal year, with comparative figures.

As at February 28, 2011, the Company had restricted cash and cash equivalents of $2,484,750 (November 30, 2010 - $2,616,000), as required to provide collateral security against capital leases (see note 6). To fulfill this obligation, the Company has purchased short-term U.S. dollar denominated investments.

3. Net finance receivables and capital assets deployed

5. Deferred development costs

Software development costs consist of internal and third party labour costs of personnel directly engaged in development activities of the Company's OnTouch® onboard store environment, and other new product and service initiatives. Amortization will commence with commercial use of the product or service and will be provided on a straight-line basis over a two year period. Deferred development costs reported as at February 28, 2011 were $1,444,098 (November 30, 2010 - $999,654).

6. Obligations under capital leases

From time to time the Company purchases hand-held, point-of-sale devices which in turn are bundled with software, hosting and services and are leased to customers as described in note 1. These devices are then sold under sales-type lease arrangements to customers under a multiple element revenue arrangement, as described in note 1.

In the three-month period ended February 28, 2011, hand-held, point-of-sale payment devices totalling $241,590 (2010 - $NIL) were financed by way of capital leases.

The Company is required to have restricted cash or cash equivalents to provide collateral security against certain of the capital lease obligations (see note 2).

The following is a schedule of future minimum lease payments for equipment under capital leases:

| | February 28, 2011 | November 30, 2010 |

7. Term loan

In June 2009, the Company entered into a non-revolving financing facility agreement ('term loan') for an aggregate amount of $2,400,000. The term loan had an original term of 36 months and was secured through a General Security Agreement and a Registered and Perfected Security interest covering the devices specified in the agreement. In January 2011, the remaining obligations under the term loan were repaid in full, and the Company entered into a new loan agreement in the amount of $1,000,000 covering the devices specified in the original agreement.

| | February 28, 2011 | November 30, 2010 |
|-----------------------|----------------------|----------------------|
| 2011 | $ 487,935 | $ 800,000 |
| 2012 | 459,682 | 333,333 |
| | 947,617 | 1,133,333 |
| Less: current portion | 657,374 | 800,000 |
| | $ 290,243 | $ 333,333 |

Principal repayments of $66,666 were made equally over the 36 month term of the original agreement. The interest rate on the term loan was 3% per annum plus the rate of prime. The administration fee was 1.25% per month of the amount outstanding under the financing facility. Principal repayments under the new loan, together with interest, of $59,250 are to be paid in 18 equal monthly consecutive payments. The interest rate on the new loan is 8.24% per annum. The loan is secured through a general security agreement.

Interest expense and loan service fees related to these obligations for the three months ended February 28, 2011 amounted to $12,554 and $29,292 respectively (2010 - $24,423 and $70,750).

8. Deferred revenue

Deferred revenue comprises lease, equipment sales, license, and service revenue, and is recognized on a monthly basis over the terms of the corresponding arrangements which range from three to five years as described in note 1.

(c) Stock options:

The Company has established a stock option plan (the 'Plan') to encourage ownership of the Company's common shares by its key officers, directors, employees and selected consultants. The Plan provides for an amount up to 15% of the outstanding common shares of the Company to be reserved for issuance. The number of shares reserved for issuance under the Plan as at February 28, 2011 is 9,721,227 common shares with provision that the Board of Directors has the right from time to time to increase such number subject to the approval of shareholders of the Company. Options under the Plan vest over various periods from the date of the granting of the option. All options granted under the Plan that have not been exercised within ten years of the grant will expire, subject to earlier termination if the optionee ceases to be an officer, director, employee or consultant of the Company.

The fair value of options granted was estimated on the date of the grant using the Black-Scholes option-pricing model, resulting in the weighted average fair value of options granted for the three-month period ended February 28, 2011 of $0.50, with the following assumptions:

As a result of the net loss for the three-months ended February 28, 2011, the potential effect of the exercise of stock options and warrants was anti-dilutive. Therefore, the options and warrants were excluded from the computation of weighted average number of dilutive common shares outstanding as their inclusion would be anti-dilutive.

For the three-months ended February 28, 2010, 1,434,424 potentially dilutive stock options and 781,939 warrants were excluded from the computation of weighted average number of diluted common shares outstanding, as the applicable exercise prices were greater than the average market price of the Company's common shares for the period.

11. Financial instruments

Financial instruments of GuestLogix consist of cash and cash equivalents, restricted cash and cash equivalents, accounts receivable, accounts payable and accrued liabilities, and term loan. There are no significant differences between the carrying amounts of the items reported on the consolidated balance sheets and their estimated fair values.

The Company's risk exposures and their impact on the Company's financial instruments are summarized below:

Credit risk

GuestLogix is currently dependant on a number of large customers in Europe and the United States (see note 14). At the period end, the top 5 accounts receivable balances comprised approximately 70% (November 30, 2010 - 74%) of the total accounts receivable. As GuestLogix expands its offerings and increases distribution of its products, management anticipates the dependency on these customers to decrease and its accounts receivable and contract risks to also be moderated. The Company establishes an allowance for doubtful accounts that corresponds to the specific credit risk of its customers, historical trends and economic circumstances. The allowance as at February 28, 2011 was $150,000 (November 30, 2010 - $150,000).

The following table provides information regarding the aging of accounts receivable. Balances over 60 days are past due, but are not impaired:

As at February 28, 2011:

| Current | 31 - 60 days | 61-90 days | 91 days + | Carrying value |
|--------------|--------------|------------|-------------|----------------|
| $ 3,252,404 | $ 373,546 | $ 635,378 | $1,150,815 | $ 5,412,143 |

As at November 30, 2010:

| Current | 31 - 60 days | 61-90 days | 91 days + | Carrying value |
|--------------|--------------|------------|--------------|----------------|
| $ 2,750,902 | $ 581,504 | $ 266,686 | $ 1,890,727 | $ 5,489,819 |

The definition of amounts that are past due is determined by reference to terms agreed with individual customers. No significant amounts outstanding have been challenged by the respective customers and the Company continues to conduct business with them on an ongoing basis. Accordingly, management expects that balances are fully collectible in the future.

Notes to Unaudited Interim Consolidated Financial Statements
February 28, 2011 and February 28, 2010

11. Financial instruments (continued)

Liquidity risk

The Company believes that at the present time it does not face significant liquidity risk as it has been able to continue to source funding for the point-of-sale hand-held devices. The Company reported positive cash-flow from operations during the three-months ended February 28, 2011, and has a significant cash balance on hand which mitigates liquidity risk.

Market risk

(a) Interest rate

Cash equivalents and restricted cash equivalents are invested in money market instruments of varying maturities up to 90 days. Consequently, GuestLogix is exposed to interest rate risk as a result of holding investments of varying maturities. The fair value of investments, as well as the investment income derived from the investment portfolio, will fluctuate with changes in prevailing interest rates. GuestLogix does not use interest rate derivative financial instruments in its investment portfolio but invests in Canadian Schedule A bank instruments. The Company does not believe that there is a significant interest rate risk, due to the short-term nature of its investments.

(b) Foreign exchange

GuestLogix is exposed to foreign exchange risk as a result of transactions in currencies other than its functional currency of the Canadian Dollar. The majority of GuestLogix' revenues are transacted in U.S. Dollars, Euros and Sterling. Purchases of equipment required to deliver on GuestLogix' contracts are primarily transacted in U.S. Dollars. GuestLogix does not currently use derivative instruments to hedge against foreign exchange risk as it has a natural hedge in U.S. Dollars.

Sensitivity analysis

Based on management's knowledge and experience of the finance market, the Company believes the following movements are 'reasonably possible' over a six-month period.

| | Impact on net income |
|---|-----------------------------|
| | $ |
| Change of +/- 10% in US $ foreign exchange rate | +/- 547,700 |
| Change of +/- 10% in Euro € foreign exchange rate | +/- 234,400 |

11. Financial instruments (continued)

The above results arise primarily as a result of the Company having US $ denominated cash and cash equivalents, restricted cash and cash equivalents, accounts receivables, account payable and accrued liabilities, capital lease obligations and GBP £, Euro € and AUD $ denominated accounts receivable.

Limitations of sensitivity analysis

The above table demonstrates the effect of change in foreign exchange rates. The financial position of the Company may vary at the time that changes in foreign exchange rates occur, causing the impact on the Company's results to differ from that shown above.

12. Guarantees

In the normal course of business, the Company enters into agreements that meet the definition of a guarantee.

- (a) Indemnity has been provided to all directors and officers of the Company for various items including, but not limited to, all costs to settle suits or actions against due to association with the Company, subject to certain restrictions. The Company has purchased directors' and officers' liability insurance to mitigate the cost of any potential future suits or actions. The term of the indemnification is not specifically defined, but is limited to the period over which the indemnified party served as a trustee, director or officer of the Company. The maximum amount of any potential future payment cannot be reasonably estimated.
- (b) In the normal course of business, the Company has entered into agreements that include indemnities in favour of third parties, such as purchase and sale agreements, confidentiality agreements, engagement letters with advisors and consultants, outsourcing agreements, leasing contracts, information technology agreements and service agreements. These indemnification agreements may require the Company to compensate counterparties for losses incurred by the counterparties as a result of breaches in representation and regulations or as a result of litigation claims or statutory sanctions that may be suffered by the counterparty as a consequence of the transaction. The terms of these indemnities are not explicitly defined and the maximum amount of any potential reimbursement cannot be reasonably estimated. The nature of these indemnification agreements prevents the Company from making a reasonable estimate of the maximum exposure due to the difficulties in assessing the amount of liability, which stems from the unpredictability of future events and the unlimited coverage offered to counterparties. Historically, the Company has not made any payments under such or similar indemnification agreements and therefore no amount has been recorded in the consolidated balance sheets with respect to these agreements.

The Company is contingently liable under certain letters of guarantee aggregating US $2,525,000 as at February 28, 2011 (November 30, 2010 – US $2,525,000).

13. Commitments

15. Capital management

Management defines capital as the Company's shareholders' equity. The Company's objective in managing capital is to ensure a sufficient liquidity position to finance and secure its revenue growth and expansion globally and to finance development activities, general and administration expenses, working capital and overall capital expenditures, especially expenditures to acquire capital assets deployed. The Company makes every attempt to manage its liquidity to minimize shareholder dilution when possible.

To finance its activities, the Company has followed an approach that relies on revenue growth, issuance of common shares and financing through capital leases and term debt. Since inception, the Company has financed its activities primarily through public offerings of common shares, shareholder loans and capital leases.

The capital management objectives for fiscal 2011 remain the same as those of the previous fiscal year.

At February 28, 2011, cash and cash equivalents amounted to $8,109,594 and accounts receivable amounted to $5,262,143. GuestLogix' principle source of liquidity going forward is expected to be cash provided from operations and the issuance of debt to finance the point-of-sale hand-held devices deployed as part of its software platform solution.

The Company's policy on dividends is to retain cash to keep funds available to finance operations and growth. However, the Board of Directors may choose to declare a dividend if warranted in the future.

The Company is not subject to any externally imposed capital requirements, except for restricted cash and cash equivalents.

16. Contingencies

The Company is involved in certain claims and litigation arising out of the ordinary course and conduct of business. Management assesses such claims and, if they are considered likely to result in a loss and the amount of the loss is quantifiable, provisions for loss are made, based on management's assessment of the most likely outcome. Management does not provide for claims for which the outcome is not determinable or claims where the amount of the loss cannot be reasonably estimated.

In April 2010, the Company filed a complaint against two former employees and a third party alleging, among other things, misappropriation of the Company's confidential information and seeking compensatory damages and injunctive relief. The corporate defendant counterclaimed
